

Biography

Rick Hanna

COO of Americas and CFO of Man Numeric

Rick Hanna is Chief Operating Officer of Americas at Man Group. He has also been Partner and Chief Financial Officer of Numeric Investors LLC since 2010, which merged with Man Group in 2014. As COO of Americas, Rick is responsible for matters related to operations, technology, legal, compliance, human resources and real estate. He sits on a number of internal committees including the Risk & Finance Committee, Information Security and Cyber Crime Steering Group, and Service Provider Oversight Committee.

Prior to joining Man Numeric, Rick spent nine years at Citigroup in various senior management roles including Managing Director and Head of International Strategy and M&A. Rick was previously Chief Financial Officer and Controller of a multi-billion dollar software division at IBM, where he had spent ten years in successive financial roles.

Rick received a BA in Economics from the University of Western Ontario.